

Pottery Classes for all Ages

All ages are welcome; parents can decide if a child is mature enough to benefit from pottery classes. Classes are taught by veteran homeschool mother, Angela Kieler who is also an art therapist. Creativity and expression is encouraged as children explore hand building methods of making pots. Each child will also have time on the pottery wheel with the teacher as she gently guides their hands so they can experience the wonderment of centering and throwing a piece of clay. Parents are invited to watch their children and cameras are welcome.

Workshops can be one or two sessions and would also be perfect for birthday parties and scout groups. Each child gets to make several hand built items as well as a pot on the wheel. Clay and firing is provided in the cost of the class which is $12 per child for each class.
